

Call for Videos
The Third Workshop on the Impact of Pen-based Technology on Education

October 15-16, 2008

Purdue University

Conference Web Site: www.purdue.edu/wipte

Organizing Committee:

Dave Berque, DePauw University, dberque@depauw.edu

Ed Evans, Purdue University, edevans@purdue.edu

Mark Payton, Vermont Academy, markp@together.net

Jane Prey, Microsoft Research, jprey@microsoft.com

Rob Reed, Hewlett Packard, robert.h.reed@hp.com

Zvi Ritz, University of Illinois, Urbana Champaign, zritz@uiuc.edu

Laura Small, DyKnow, lsmall@dyknow.com

Submissions Due: June 16, 2008.

Video Session

The WIPTE video session will provide an informal opportunity for participants to present videos which demonstrate educational use of pen-based technology but which may not have an evaluation component. The videos should highlight ways that pen-based technologies impact teaching, learning, classroom interaction, or other learning-related behaviors.

This venue will be most appropriate for teachers and staff who work in preschool and K12 environments. Video submissions that involve student collaborators or that are entirely student produced are also welcomed. Videos may present projects which either do not lend themselves to a clear evaluation component or where such evaluation cannot be performed or is not appropriate. Videos from higher education faculty will also be considered, but these submitters are strongly encouraged to pursue a full paper submission. It is permissible to submit a video in addition to a paper. Please note that videos will not be included in the conference proceedings.

It is recommended that videos be three to seven minutes in length, although videos of up to ten minutes duration will be considered. We expect that successful video submissions will vary greatly with respect to style and degree of polish. In all cases, though, we expect a video to help "show" the viewer how pen-based technologies are being used at your school.

Video producers are encouraged to read the call for papers to further understand the expected WIPTE audience and the types of topics that are likely to be of interest. However, the conference committee will consider video submissions that deal with pen-based computing topics that fall outside the scope of the call for papers.

Important Dates:

March 14, 2008 -- Submissions will be accepted starting on this date.

June 16, 2008 -- Deadline for video submissions.

July 23, 2008 -- Producer notification.

September 14, 2008 -- Workshop registration deadline.

October 15 – 16, 2008 -- Workshop convenes at Purdue University.

Videos may be submitted by posting them to TeacherTube (<http://www.teachertube.com>). Please include "WIPTE" as a tag for the video submitted to TeacherTube. In addition, please submit the title of the video along with a one paragraph description of the video through the online WIPTE submission system when it becomes available on or before May 1st, 2008. Include the link to the TeacherTube video, names, titles and contact information of the producers in the online submission. The online submission form will ask you to affirm that you have obtained all necessary release information for minors appearing in the video. Responsibility for acquiring any needed release forms lies with the producers of the video and not with the WIPTE conference, organizing committee or Purdue University.

Review Process

Each submission will be reviewed by at least one reviewer selected from the organizing committee and/or the review committee. Due to time constraints we are unable to promise that reviewer feedback will be provided to producers. Videos selected for presentation at WIPTE will also be eligible for a prize. Details about the prize(s) offered will be available on the WIPTE conference web site (<http://www.purdue.edu/wipte>) on or before May 1st, 2008.

Questions

General questions can be addressed to any member of the organizing committee. Questions about local arrangements and the Purdue venue should be addressed to Ed Evans. Questions about video submissions and the review process should be addressed to Mark Payton. Questions about vendors and corporate sponsorship should be addressed to Jane Prey, Rob Reed, or Laura Small.